The Energy Crisis of 2008

By Tom Donohue

In just one year, crude oil prices have soared from $65 per barrel to as high as $135. The price of gas is now $4 a gallon.

These runaway energy prices are punishing an economy that is already weak. Millions of small businesses and families on tight budgets are struggling.

How has Congress responded?

Kenai LNG Export License Approved

June 3, 2008, Juneau, Alaska - Governor Sarah Palin today lauded the decision by the U.S. Energy Department to approve the application of Marathon Oil Corporation and ConocoPhillips for an extension of the Kenai LNG export license. The two companies filed for the extension in January 2007.

"In these times of economic uncertainty, this is great news for the state and its residents," Governor Palin said. "This extension helps secure a future for the LNG operation and is another step toward ensuring energy supplies and energy security for Alaska."

In January, the state of Alaska and the owners of the LNG plant reached an agreement that ensured there will be adequate supplies of gas for local utilities. The agreement also required the owners to develop additional natural gas reserves in Cook Inlet and allow third parties the opportunity to monetize their gas production through the LNG plant. Marathon and ConocoPhillips have also agreed to sell Cook Inlet seismic and well data to third parties.

The Kenai LNG facility, located in Nikiski, is the only LNG export plant in North America. The facility initiated operations in 1969 and today employs 58 people; the plant also supports 128 other jobs in the Kenai community. In addition, the operations of the plant contribute approximately $50 million in royalties and taxes to the state and local economies.

Governor,

Attached is all of your information for the event tomorrow. I have included your remarks; event info & agenda; directions to the event; & a map of the University of AK Southeast campus. There are, however, a few things I would like to make you aware of:

1. SB 57 sponsor, Sen. Elton, is attending and his co-sponsors Reps. Kerttula and Doll, are trying to come, but not yet confirmed. As such, I have included them in your remarks in green so that you have the option of acknowledging them if present.
2. Commissioner Irwin could not attend the event, but DNR Parks Supervisor Mike Eberhardt (Ebber-hart) will speak in his place.
3. The location of the event may be a bit tricky, as it is across from the University and does not actually have its own address. Mindy is staffing you and knows exactly where it is, and it might be a good idea to have her ride with you, as she can direct you.
4. If you choose to ride alone, Mindy will meet you there and will be available on her cell, at Privilege.
5. Janice will print this out for you.

Please let me know if you have any questions whatsoever. Thank you, Governor!

I went through the same line of questioning with Kyle yesterday for 45 minutes. He wants to know our position on Knik Arm. What I told him several times is that public funds are involved, anytime public funds are involved, officials should perform a reasonable amount of due diligence. That means getting all the information we need to evaluate the project so an informed decision can be made. So we are asking hard questions of KABATA. We will keep asking hard questions until we are satisfied with the answers.

I also told him that we just received 80 pages of information this week from KABATA. That information is being reviewed by experts at DOT and LAW who will provide input back to us.

The answer to Kyle's question of pursuing the project even if it means the state puts more money into it could be Privileged or Personal M

The answer to the question of how Knik Arm compares with Gravina could be:

Kyle has Frank Richard's April 22, 2008, letter to KABATA asking a lot of tough questions.

Kyle has somehow gotten a copy of Frank's letter to KABATA. It's 3 pages of tough questions to them about the project and again asking KABATA to education the public and legislators on all the details of the project.

I don't know how he got it.

Yeah -- I'm trying to take the pulse of KABATA and the bridge project in the wake of George Wuerch leaving last month, and DOT asking some hard questions about the project costs and potential risk to the state.

I'd want to ask the governor things like whether she supports pursuing the project even if it means the state needs to put more money in it, and how she sees the project in comparison to the Gravina Island bridge.

MESSAGE:

Governor Palin,

You are awesome!!!!!!!!!!!! I am very impressed and fully support you. Thank you for proving not all politicians are only about their careers.

I have been thinking alot lately about the budgets. I am a married woman that works very hard. My husband and I are classified as "d.i.n.k.s" by Uncle Sam. We pay a large amount of our money annualy to taxes. I do not begrudge our duties to pay taxes. It is my duty as an Americian to pay my share. This being said I am very perplexed by the spending in the education system on the remodels and new builds for schools. I understand that we need to stimulate the children and that colors and designs are meant to inspire. What I am having a really hard time with is the materials that are being purchased for these jobs. I sell building materials more specifically hard surfaces. As the company I work for bids on the materials that have be specified I have have to wonder why exactly elementary school children need glass and natural stone. Glass tile and accents are some of the most expensive building products in the world. They are also more to install. Natural stone is not even rated for comm ercial use. The natural stone is also double the price to install.

I understand the importance of making children proud of their schools, the importance of activating their minds through outside stimulis. But isn't money being wasted on "fancy" stuff that is just a fad. Why is it that painted stripes on the walls were good enough for us but not this generations children. Glass 4x4 is between $18.00 s/f - $70.00 s/f just for the glass. Installation of glass is $8.00 - $10.00 s/f. Thats crazy expensive. The new Clark Middle school has tile on the exterior. The tile is a porcelain thru body. Yet again more expensive than it needs tobe Wy not paint?

As a supplier I lose money for my business if things go back to the less expensive products, but wouldn't be better to use some of that spending for music classes, sports, teachers wages, playground equipment, libraries, text books, computers?

Who is approving these budgets? Is there any way to make the money go where it should?

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

Congrats on your baby boy, God Bless you and all your loved ones. You are doing a wonderful job.

Sincerely,

Jessica Stich

Ms. Palin,

I wanted to send you a quick note to request that you accept if John McCain were to select you as his running mate. I realize you have considerable responsibilities at the moment between being a good mother and governing a state larger than some countries, but the nation needs someone like you to lead us in these trying times. If John McCain does not win the presidency, I fear for the economic and political trouble that we may face, and some say you might be the last hope in a dismal Republican year (having a 90% approval rating as governor of any state is simply astounding).

Although I am 26, I have never given money to any campaign. If it is a McCain/Palin ticket, however, I will donate as much money as I can reasonably afford to the RNC (it is my understanding that because Senator McCain will accept public funds, he will be ineligible to receive donations for a General Election).

The budget request was fully supported by all regulatory and oversight bodies from the NLHOA to the Roads Board to the Mat-Su Borough. Everyone is very upset that we were required to rank and prioritize and justify the capital request, and that when done, the number one priority request is VETOED.

This was not a "wouldn't it be nice if...." request, this was our thoroughly vetted and prioritized project that was completely and totally eliminated. We appreciate Sen. Huggins and this project fully followed the rules and processes, and everyone is in agreement that this is not only a valid project, it was in fact the very highest ranked project. Everyone is confused as to why it was vetoed let alone completely vetoed.

Dear Governor,

I happened to be watching Glenn Beck last night and saw your appearance. I was completely impressed with you and your common-sense approach to the oil crisis and politics in general. I hope that you will make more appearances. It is obvious that you are serving the interest of the people, and not in politics to boost your own ego. I truly wish we had people in Washington like you; people working for the people. Your constituents in Alaska are very fortunate to have you.

And, congratulations on your new baby. How lucky to have you for a mom!

Dear Governor Palin -

I saw you on the Glenn Beck program last night and I just wanted to let you know I think you are a super governor. The State of Alaska should be very proud and honored to have someone of your charactor represent their state. Would you consider moving to Texas and running for Governor? Keep up the wonderful work.

Dear Governor Palin:

I just received my issue of The Harvest, the publication for the Great Falls-Billings Diocese, and saw the story of your child, Trig. With time, patience, and most of all, love, your son will be able to do more than you ever thought possible.

I have a daughter who is Down's Syndrome. Linda was my second child. She is 37. I was 27 when she was born. Linda started school when she was 3 years old. I worried about her riding the bus, but when I found out all the other kids argued over who was going to take care of her each day I quit worrying.

She lives in a town 14 miles from me in a semi-independent apartment complex. There is a supervisor on duty from 4 p.m. to 8 a.m. every day. The supervisor assists residents with cooking, cleaning, takes them grocery shopping, conducts fire drills, provides counseling, oversees parties, etc. Linda shares an apartment with another woman. She cooks her meals, does her laundry, shares cleaning responsibilities with her roommate, and takes her turn at cleaning the lobby of the apartment complex. The center where she works does laundry for the hospital, medical clinic, grocery stores, restaurants, and laundry for individuals. The center also collects aluminum cans for recycling. She even went on vacation to Disneyland in California with several people from her apartment building and a chaperone. The Special Olympics on a local, district, and state level is something she looks forward to every year.

My husband and I were told that the sooner you can start educating a Down's Syndrome child the better. We were very fortunate in have access to resources to help us work with our daughter.

We are so proud of her and she has brought us much joy. She always joins us for holidays and family celebrations. Her favorite saying when she takes her leave of us is "I keep you."

May God continue to bless you and your family.

Governor Palin,

First let me congratulate you and your family on your new addition to your brood,Tyrg. Thank you God for little Tyrg.

I watched the interview with Glen Beck and I wanted to let you know as an Alaskan since 1962, I am so very proud to call you our Governor. You are articulate and know what you are talking about. You represent our great state with intelligence and class.

I'm sure most Alaskans support you in your endeavors on this most important issue of our energy resources being locked up while the whole nation slams our President about gas prices and the economy.

We're proud of you.

I know that you have probably heard people on the internet supporting you for Vice President, and I would like you to know that I am one of those people. Sounds like rebecca palsha will be their gal in Juneau during session. Could u make sure she gets an invite to Gov's House bbq on Wednesday, 5pm, we'll sign a couple of bills there at that time while we're welcoming lawmakers back for sp session. They'll be doing live 5, 6, and 10pm newscasts - they're welcome to do the live at the mansion that evening. Thanks
